INTRODUCTION

Strong partnerships can help small businesses grow and thrive.

As small businesses continue to take on new challenges, we’re here to help.

The market is constantly evolving, and small businesses excel at adapting in response. We strive to do the same, ensuring that we stay in step and on track with the needs of our users.

Facebook Products are a powerful platform for small business success. We’re constantly improving our free tools, targeting, and personalized ads for the 180 million businesses and 8 million advertisers that rely on them.

Small businesses are at the heart of what we do.
Facebook is in the business of small business. Every month, more than 180 million businesses use Facebook, Instagram, Messenger or WhatsApp to reach customers, sell and grow – from big brands to independent stores, coffee shops, family restaurants and local businesses of every shape and size.

But the COVID-19 pandemic has left small businesses everywhere facing the challenge of a lifetime. With fewer customers walking into stores, gyms and restaurants, businesses have had to get creative to reach them online instead.

At Facebook, we are determined to provide a lifeline for small businesses as they make this transition. This Guide will help small businesses up their game online with detailed resources we have developed with them in mind. It shows how to build a digital storefront on Facebook or Instagram, reach target audiences through personalized advertising, communicate with customers using Messenger and WhatsApp, or find new and creative ways to tell their story and interact with people using tools like Facebook Live and IGTV.

In this difficult economic climate, we are determined to do everything we can to help small businesses survive and thrive in the increasingly digital-first economy.

Sheryl Sandberg COO, Facebook
When Noni Banks founded The Diva Movement, a membership-based leadership development organization for women, she relied on in-person events to offer networking, skills development, and training. Then the coronavirus pandemic hit. Almost overnight, she says, her business dropped by 80%.

Fortunately, Noni’s mantra is “Don’t give up.” She moved her events online by learning how to use new digital tools, including Instagram Live, and built credibility by teaching others to use them, too. On Facebook Live events, Noni invited female entrepreneurs to discussions on timely topics such as goal-setting and parenting during the pandemic.

“These live events have become a great way for me to generate leads and help other entrepreneurs grow,” she says.

She also launched social media consulting and coaching services, increasing her marketing and advertising efforts to promote them. The result was a 90% increase in coaching clients and social media bootcamp attendees.

As Noni built an online community, she used her Facebook Page to share resources for fellow business owners — and saw her connections do the same. “I really saw how women supported each other during these times,” she says.

Facebook’s family of apps are designed to support businesses like yours.

Facebook
Instagram
WhatsApp
Messenger
Facebook is the most widely used member of our family of apps and services. Businesses and people use Facebook to make meaningful connections and share.

Whether your business is global or rooted in a local community, you can create a free Page to establish your company’s presence. Facebook gives you lots of ways to grow your business. For example, you can share posts/stories, message with customers, promote events, sell products, accept appointment bookings, or post jobs.

Message with customers.

WhatsApp supports sending and receiving a variety of media: text, photos, videos, documents, and location, as well as calls. Messages and calls are secured with end-to-end encryption, meaning that no third party, including WhatsApp, can read or listen to them.

WhatsApp Business
WhatsApp Business is a free-to-download app that was built with the small business owner in mind. Create a catalog to showcase your products and services. Connect with your customers easily by using tools to automate, sort, and quickly respond to messages.

ENGAGE YOUR COMMUNITY

Discover different ways you can stay connected with your community.

Organic vs Paid Reach

If you use Facebook to share information from your business or organization, you’re already reaching some of the people who want to hear from you. This is called organic reach.

But what if you want to reach the people who haven’t seen your Facebook Page? Facebook Ads allow you to reach the people you care about, even if they don’t follow you yet. This is called paid reach.

By showing people engaging and relevant content, on the websites and apps where they spend their time, you have an opportunity to expand your audience and drive action toward your objective.
Organic Engagement Tips

Interact with customers by asking them questions and answering theirs.

Build community with Posts, Stories, and Messages

Regularly monitor your Page activity for comments and questions that need attention; “Like” and reply to comments whenever possible.

Go Live on Facebook or Instagram
Tell your story as it happens live: make an announcement, start a live Q&A, or just show your followers what’s happening.

- Interview people who might interest your followers.
- Integrate Live into other events where supporters can participate.

Go Live on Facebook and Best Practices

Go Live on Instagram and Best Practices
You don’t have to be an expert to start advertising on Facebook. Create and run campaigns using simple self-serve tools, and track their performance with easy-to-read reports.
Small Business Experiences
Facebook Business Suite helps businesses save time and stay up to date by managing their pages or profiles across their apps. It allows businesses to post to Facebook and Instagram at the same time, and manage and receive messages, notifications and alerts in one place. Businesses can also easily see what’s working and learn what’s resonating with customers with Facebook and Instagram insights.

Paid Online Events

With social distancing mandates still in place, many businesses and creators are bringing their events and services online to connect with existing customers and reach new ones. People are also relying on live video and interactive experiences more when they can’t come together physically.

By combining marketing, payment and live video, paid online events meet the end-to-end needs of businesses.

Use Facebook to host expert talks, trivia events, podcast recordings, boxing matches, cooking classes, intimate meet-and-greets, fitness classes and more.

Shops

Facebook Shops make it easy for businesses to set up a single online store for customers to access on both Facebook and Instagram.

Businesses can choose the products they want to feature from their catalog and then customize the look and feel of their shop with a cover image and accent colors that showcase their brand.

Facebook Gift Cards

Facebook is helping people discover and purchase gift cards to support the businesses they love in their communities.

When businesses set up a digital gift card with one of Facebook’s partners, people in the area will be able to discover it right on Facebook and share it on their Instagram profile. When they click on the gift card, they’ll be able to purchase it online immediately.

Instagram Gift Cards and Food Orders

Facebook is helping people and businesses find their online “Main Street.” Business owners can get set up with select partners and use new, interactive Instagram Stories stickers with their own Instagram Stories content to drive awareness of these new ways people can support them.

Businesses can also add a “Gift Cards,” “Order Food,” or “Donate” button to their Instagram profile. By tapping an Instagram profile button, people will be taken to their business’s chosen platform to complete their purchase.

Use interactive stickers and buttons to drive awareness
Personal Fundraisers on Facebook

Business owners can create a personal fundraiser on Facebook for their business and ask customers for support.

Businesses Nearby and the “Support Small Business” Sticker

Facebook released a “Support Small Business” sticker on Instagram and a #SupportSmallBusiness hashtag on the Facebook app to let people show their love for small businesses.

Facebook is also exploring ways to easily connect users with local businesses on Facebook. Through Businesses Nearby, users can learn what’s happening with their neighborhood shops, message them or order food, and buy goods from them through third-party apps.

Manage Features That Work Across Apps With Account Center

Facebook wants to make access to your accounts easier and faster, so you can focus on the more important aspects of running your business.

Accounts Center’s connected experiences allow you to easily turn off or on features with Single Sign On, which lets you log in and recover your accounts more easily, and cross-posting, which lets you share the same story or post on both Instagram and Facebook.

Messenger Features to Engage With Your Community on Instagram

Facebook has connected Messenger and Instagram to help you connect with your customers now more than ever.

Online conversations are essential to building a stronger relationship with your customers. With Instagram’s new features you can customize your message to best fit your business’s personality. You can reply to a specific message, forward a message, and customize chat colors and themes. Custom emoji reactions, and animated message effects put more emotion and visual flair behind your messages, allowing you to artfully engage with customers.

#BuyBlack Friday and a Season of Support for Small Businesses

Facebook is determined to do all it can to help small businesses not just survive online but to thrive, which is why they are launching a three-month long Season of Support to provide free resources, education and training to help businesses all over the world.

As part of the Season of Support, Facebook is announcing #BuyBlack Friday in the US – harnessing the energy of the year’s biggest retail day to celebrate and support Black-owned businesses and their communities. Starting October 30th, Facebook will introduce features in the Facebook app that encourage people to create posts supporting Black-owned businesses. And they’ll be offering interested businesses a toolkit to get involved, so they can amplify #BuyBlack through their own channels.
