

Amanda Byers Selected for U.S. Chamber Foundation Education and Workforce Fellowship Program

Fellowship Provides State and Local Business Leaders with Opportunities to Engage Nationally on Critical Education and Workforce Issues

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation today announced Amanda Byers, Director of Talent & Policy of the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce was selected to participate in the tenth cohort of its premiere business leadership program. The Business Leads Fellowship Program trains and equips leaders from state and local chambers of commerce, economic development agencies, and trade associations with resources, access to experts, and a network of peers to build their capacity to address the most pressing education and workforce challenges.

"I am honored to join the tenth cohort of the Business Leads Fellowship Program," says Amanda Byers, Director of Talent & Policy at the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce. "This opportunity will not only enhance my ability to address the complex challenges in education and workforce development but also connect me with a network of peers and experts dedicated to making a meaningful impact in our communities. I am excited to bring these insights and connections back to the Dayton region and drive positive change."

"We created the Business Leads Fellowship Program in response to the needs of our state and local chamber partners," says Caitlin Codella Low, Vice President at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation. "They, better than anyone, see the critical link between education and economic development, and we are glad to be able to support them as they take on this critical leadership role in their community."

Following a competitive application and selection process, [Name] was selected along with 34 other state and local chamber executives, economic development professionals, and association leaders to participate in the tenth class of this program. The eight-month program, consisting of both in person and virtual meetings, will cover the entire talent pipeline, including early childhood education, K-12, postsecondary education, and workforce development.

Upon completion, Business Leads Fellows will join the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation's dedicated network of over 350 chambers of commerce and statewide associations from around the nation who regularly engage on education and workforce initiatives.
